Police: Shooting lawful

GRANITE CITY — A man shot and wounded by an off-duty Pontoon Beach police officer is out on bail.

Henry Ernest Murphy, 36, 1254 Murphy Lane, Chouteau Island, charged with attempted home invasion Monday, was released Tuesday after posting $7,500 cash bail.

Murphy was shot and wounded in a log by Pontoon Police Lt. Michael Crouch at 5:30 a.m. Saturday when Murphy allegedly tried to get through a door to enter the Granite City home of Beverly Partney, where Crouch was a guest.

"As of the present time, Pontoon Beach has not begun any investigation nor is one anticipated into the shooting in Granite City," Pontoon Beach Police Chief Chet Ballew said Wednesday.

"The Granite City Police Department is handling the criminal investigation into this incident and Pontoon Beach has full confidence in the Granite City investigation. Warrants have been issued for attempted home invasion for the offender."

"Due to the pending criminal charges, no statements can be made at this time.

"The Granite City Police Department has not made any complaint that would constitute any violation of any ordinance or police regulation by Detective Crouch," Ballew said.

Crouch said Wednesday he was restricted from commenting on the case by department policy.

"I can't comment because of the investigation into the (home invasion) case, not any investigation on me," Crouch said.

A Granite City detective said Wednesday that department personnel still are looking

United Way reaches 30%

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-Cities Area United Way's 1988 fund drive is off to a "solid start" with $249,322 pledged, or 30% of its target of $825,000, it was announced Tuesday.

Preliminary figures for the campaign were provided at a breakfast drive meeting held at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Campaign Chairman Paul Raczkiewicz called the progress of the drive "excellent."

Leading the way were solicitations among area professionals with $33,886 of $71,000 pledged, or 48 percent of the professional division's goal.

Pledges from government, schools, organizations and private donors totaled $21,019 of a goal of $60,000 or 31 percent of the target.

Among industries, $153,899 of a $370,000 goal was pledged, or 27 percent of the total, with the drive in most area industries just getting started.

National Steel's corporate pledge of $110,000 and Magna Bank of Granite City's combined corporate and employee pledges of $26,560 were the largest contributions reported.

The overall campaign goal is the most ambitious in the 45-year history of the local United Way.

Dist. 12 borrows against future taxes

MADISON — In an emergency financial meeting held Saturday, the District 12 School Board passed a resolution authorizing the issuance of general obligation notes on corporate replacement tax funds for $220,000.

Superintendent Dan Kosteneck said the money would be placed in the education fund and used primarily for salaries.

"The notes are a 'temporary measure' to allow the school district access to money it would ordinarily receive from the Illinois Department of Revenue at a later date.

"Finances are a little bit snug at this point and the money would improve our cash flow," Kosteneck said.

The emergency meeting was called for Saturday to have the matter in progress prior to tonight's regular meeting.

Army offers reward on theft

GRANITE CITY — A $1,000 reward is being offered by the U.S. Army's Criminal Investigation Division (CID).

The CID seeks information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who stole approximately $17,000 worth of merchandise from the Army and Air Force Exchange Services Post Exchange at the Post Support Center, Granite City.

CID Special Agent in Charge John C. Morgan said the theft occurred between 6:30 p.m. and 6 a.m. June 1-2, 1988.

School could get overpass — Koberna

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — According to school board member Roy Koberna, Granite City may lose its chance at a state-funded pedestrian overpass unless concerned citizens act now.

"Everybody's interested but it's got to go beyond that into the doing stage," Koberna said.

As a Granite City police officer, Koberna has heard complaints from motorists as well as from Granite City High School students and their parents about traffic hazards in areas surrounding the school.

Koberna has proposed the construction of an overpass from the high school, crossing Nameoki Road to Jill Avenue. Although there is already a crosswalk there, Koberna says there are too many "misunderstandings" with both the kids and motorists. The kids all think someone else pushed the button and the motorists see that they have a green light and they plan to go," he said.

Koberna said that when used properly, the light lasts about 25 seconds, allowing five to 10 students to cross safely.

"The problem is that at lunch there may be a herd of kids in groups of 20. If the kids in front of the group get a green, they keep walking. Nobody bothers to press the button," Koberna said.

This was one of the original problems Koberna had with the Illinois Department of Transportation when he began his quest last spring.

"DOT said they saw a need to educate the kids on how to push the button. What they didn't seem to understand was that these kids come across in such large numbers that, button or not, they wouldn't make it," Koberna said.

DOT told Koberna that most communities want an overpass but fail to meet the necessary criteria. "They said they try to discourage overpasses because of the expense," he said.

The cost of an overpass ranges from $170,000 to $200,000.

Koberna also suggested a four-way stop, with no turns, that would completely stop traffic and allow students to cross.

"They didn't like that, either. It was a major disaster in their opinion because it would stop traffic too much," Koberna said.

DOT also told Koberna that since no one had been struck within the actual intersection, the criteria might not be met. Four students have been struck during the last two years.

Koberna's work on the project was put on "hold" by the recent teacher strike. But while he was in "hiding," he was a member of the board's negotiating team, Koberna took the opportunity to visit the DOT office there.

"Not only was I given the exact criteria that would have to be met, I was also told that if road work was being done on the road where the overpass would be at the time we sought the overpass, we would be eligible for some state funds," Koberna said.

Koberna said that after state funding, the overpass could cost as little as $50,000 plus the cost of fencing to block off a trail to it.

But time is running out. Koberna said widening work on Nameoki Road could begin at any time and elections are just weeks away.

"Now is the time to get to our state legislators and press this issue," he said. "If I can get some help contacting them, I think we can make the most of the situation."

Those interested in helping or with other questions, he said, can contact the school board office at 876-6600.

Man gets new heart

MITCHELL — Carroll Kings頓, 52, successfully underwent heart transplant surgery Sunday at Methodist Hospital, St. Louis.

A retired Vandalia police officer, the Mitchell resident received another person's heart during five hours of surgery that began at 9 a.m. in a hospital sponsored by St. Louis.

Kings頓 resides on Sunny Shore Drive near West Chain of Rocks Road with his wife, Nancy.

He was described as alert on Monday and was visited by his wife. His condition was critical but stable.

Due to cardiomyopathy, Kings頓 had an enlarged, weakened heart for the past two years.

He went on the Barnes waiting list April 23, waiting for a suitable heart to become available.

Varied personal-interest workshops slated here

GRANITE CITY — Fifty-six special Saturday Experiences are scheduled at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College beginning Oct. 15.

These short (one to seven sessions) non-credit workshops are designed to add fun, interest and new opportunities for current students, children and the general public.

This is the fourth time that Saturday Experience has been scheduled and the new series is to meet Oct. 15.

Four-year-olds can take Spanish and the professional can learn how to improve time management on the job.

"We think this mix of workshops will provide something of interest to almost everyone in the greater Granite City community," said Dr. Valerie L. Thaxton, dean of students and originator of the series.

In the past, the workshops have attracted participants from as far south as Chester. We think that is a strong indication of the program appeal.

"Now with the completion of Interstate 255 we anticipate more traffic coming to the Granite City Campus for Saturday Experience workshops."

This year there is an expanded emphasis on workshops for youth. Topics include the study of Spanish, language and literature, floral design, computers and learning about math with parents.

Two new programs offered Oct. 22 are co-sponsored by the college's Business Assistance Council. "Motivation for Personal Productivity" is a three-hour morning session and "25 Hours in a Day: Time Management for Professionals" is an afternoon three-hour session.

There are seven other workshops in the general area of business and computers and six personal/professional development workshops.

Arts and crafts continues to be major components in the series. Seventeen different topics ranging from Christmas stenciling to wheat weaving are available.

Floral arranging and "How to..." workshops round out the series.

Additional information about costs and registration is available by calling the campus, 459-0099. Some workshop sizes are limited. Enrollees may use their MasterCard or Visa.

Free cancer screening offered

A man is run over by a drunk driver's car. Defective wiring causes a fire to persist in a house fire. Persons hear or read about such tragedies and call about these people victims of "fate."

Yet, fate will have no part in the deaths of 60,000 people this year. Colon-rectal cancer will be responsible. This disease remains the second-leading cancer killer in the U.S., despite the fact it's one of the most curable cancers.

On Oct. 6-8, AMC Cancer Research Center and Medicine Shoppe pharmacies will offer free colon-rectal cancer screening. Call 367-3673 Nameoki Road, Granite City.

Participants pick up a test kit and instructions at one of the 750 Medicine Shoppes nationwide, complete it at home, and mail to AMC Cancer Research Center in Denver for free laboratory analysis.

AMC notifies participants about their test results. And AMC's staff advises people (when hidden blood is detected in their stools) that they should see a physician for further testing and diagnosis since this is an early indicator of possible colon-rectal cancer or other serious health problems.

To obtain a free, take-home test kit, persons may check with the Medicine Shoppe pharmacy.

Costello sets town meetings

BELLEVILLE — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello will hold nine town meetings in October in an effort to be in constant contact with residents of the 21st Congressional District.

"Town meetings are essential for me to hear the things that are important to my constituents," Costello said. "I've already held several town meetings in my district and I think these face-to-face discussions are extremely valuable."

After an Oct. 1 gathering in O'Fallon, Costello's town meetings will continue in:

HIGHLAND, Monday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Highland City Hall, 1115 Broadway.

BELLEVILLE, Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be at Belleville City Hall, 101 S. Illinois St.

EDWARDSVILLE, Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Edwardsville Township Mallory Building, 216 Crane.

GRANITE CITY, Thursday, Oct. 13, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave.

GREENVILLE, Monday, Oct. 17, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be at Greenville 1st Bank & Trust, 2nd and Main streets.

COLLINSVILLE, Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be at the Collinsville Senior Center, 420 E. Main St.

Holiday harvest at John Relleke's farm Oct. 8-9

John and Carol Relleke, Sand Prairie farm owners, will host a two-day Holiday Harvest Fun Fest on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 8 and 9. Sand Prairie Road branches off from Illinois 111, just south of Lakeside Airport.

Ronald McDonald will make an appearance on Sunday around 2 p.m. and there will be a magic show and other activities for children.

Holiday Harvest is "people helping people," Mr. and Mrs. Relleke said. The idea came from a neighbor, John Young, who felt that farmers would welcome the opportunity to share part of their crops with needy children in the Chicago area.

The following year, several Illinois and Missouri county farm bureaus decided there were needy children in the St. Louis bi-state area who would also welcome help during the Christmas season. Funds raised are divided between the needs of Chicago, St. Louis and the St. Louis metropolitan area. KMOX Radio and National Food are partners with the Illinois and Missouri Farm Bureaus in this effort.

Funds are given to the Christmas carol group (which shares it with many charities), the Ronald McDonald House, the Alton Oasis home for battered children, children, the school for autistic children, Hoytton Children's Home and others.

The Rellekes' efforts will raise funds for the participation of area residents.

At their farm will be straw casting, petting zoo, apple butter making, pumpkins, food concessions, a bee and honey display, and games of all kinds for adults and young alike.

DUMPS PHONE CABLES: Unknown to the driver, Thomas A. Pike, 38, St. Louis, the bed of this tractor-trailer dump truck began to rise Monday as he drove west on 20th Street, between Madison and Grand avenues, and hooked a four-inch telephone cable, pulling the cable forward until it snapped and breaking off a power pole and two telephone poles in the process. As the four-inch cable dropped it struck a car operated by Arnold W. Spiroff, 38, 2127 Edison Ave., and also hit a billboard, causing a large piece of plywood to fall and strike the parked Ford Mustang of Celeste Dotson, St. Louis. The truck, owned by Beelman Truck Co., St. Louis, had just been repaired and apparently the mechanics failed to close a valve, Pike told police.

Allegedly violates order

Randy Earl Iland, 27, 2904 Dale Ave., was charged with violation of an order of protection Sept. 30 when police were called to a disturbance at Grand Avenue, where Treasha M. Robertson, 23, was seated on a rear porch crying.

Iland allegedly was screaming threats at the woman and was arrested for violating the protection order. He was released after posting $1,000.

Accident ends in arrest

A motorist westbound in an alley between Denver and Cayuga streets, apparently spinning the car from side to side, lost control of the auto and crashed into a private fence in the home of Vernon Johnson, 2222 Denver, Oct. 2. The vehicle, whose driver left the scene, also ran over a roto-tiller. Property damage was estimated at $1,000.

Randy A. Baker, 17, 2724 Hardin, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol following a front-end traffic accident at 3 a.m. Oct. 3 at Madison Avenue and 20th Street.

Bernard A. Woodrome, 30, 5445 Mayville Road, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol following a front-end traffic accident at 3 a.m. Oct. 3 at Madison Avenue and 20th Street.

Woodrome, who sustained a cut under an eye, declined medical attention, authorities said.

All four vehicles were headed north on Madison Avenue and were operated by Richard T. Moore, 23, 3500 Franklin Ave., and David Paz, 24, 2915 Palmer Ave., had been stopped for a red traffic light at 20th Street.

Leona F. McCallister, 38, Granite City, was driving south on Madison Avenue when she suffered a minor injury. She was slowing her auto for the light when her car was struck from the rear by Woodrome's auto, authorities said.

Both the Woodrome and McCallister cars ended up in front of Moore's auto, which was in the passing lane.

FEET FIRST

MINIMAL SURGERY! MAXIMUM RESULTS!!

By Dr. Claude Hiles

Whether it has a congenital or a biomechanical one, a bunion is a source of considerable pain. Fortunately, there is a relatively simple surgical procedure available to eliminate the deformity. It does not require the realignment of bones. Instead, minimal incision ambulatory surgery is geared toward removing the bony outgrowth and resurfacing the joint. Working with a precision instrument, through a tiny 1/2-inch incision at the site of the bunion, the podiatrist is able to remove the bony enlargement and contributes to the pain of bunions. The patient required only local anesthesia.

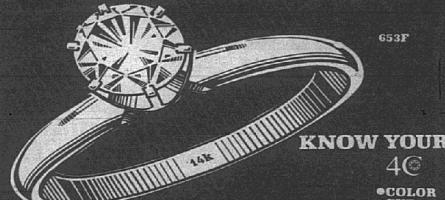

Podiatric medicine has not only been successful in treating bunions, but in correcting pediatric disorders, skin conditions, bone deformities, and other structural abnormalities, as well. Periodic visits to a podiatrist will ensure the early detection and treatment of disease or other foot problems. Contact my office at 1930 State St. for the professional care you will receive. General foot problems are treated and treated surgery is performed. BC/BS, John Hancock, Medicare are accepted. Telephone 877-8025. Happy Columbus Day!

Fire promotions, hirings

GRANITE CITY — Four firefighters received promotions and four men were hired as members of the Fire Department, it was announced this week by Fire Chief Charles Bernax and Leland Ambuehl, president of the Granite City Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

Carl Kalkbrenner, 45, and Keith Talley, 34, members of the department for the past 16 years, were promoted to the rank of fire captain. Both men joined the fire fighting force on Nov. 1, 1972. Promoted to the rank of engineer were Nelson Hagnauer, 34, and Tom Hollis, 36. Both were hired by the department Sept. 1, 1987.

Four new men appointed to the department are:

Bert Houston III, 28, 2432 Wilson Ave., a graduate of Wilson High School South; Edward Mitchell, 29, 3121 Auburn Ave., a graduate of Granite City High School South; Greg Headberg, 30, 2207 Grand Ave.; a graduate of O'Fallon, Ill., High School.

Danny Shurtz, 22, 2707 Harvey Place, who is attending the Illinois Firefighters Training Academy in Champaign. He is a graduate of Tamaroa High School, Tamaroa, Ill.

All the new firefighters are expected to attend the training academy at a future date, Bernax said.

Gets probation for weapon use and theft

Terry S. Borowski, 212 Warson Lane, Mitchell, was sentenced Aug. 5 for unlawful use of a weapon and theft of over $300 value, according to the court. Sentenced by Madison County Circuit Judge Philip Rarick to 30 months probation, including one year of intensive probation, and was ordered to pay $50 in court costs.

The charge was filed May 20 after an investigation by Granite City Police.

A second charge of unlawful use of a weapon was dismissed.

The unlawful use of a weapon charges were filed May 10 following an investigation by the Madison County Sheriff's Department, and the theft charge was filed July 25 following an investigation by Edwardsville Police.

Charge dismissed

A charge of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance against Molly K. Tyler, 744 Third St., Venice, has been dismissed.

The charge, filed July 20 following an investigation by the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation, was dismissed Aug. 31 by Madison County Circuit Judge Philip Rarick.

The charges were filed Feb. 18 following an investigation by Granite City Police.

DUI drivers' cars can be impounded

SPRINGFIELD — People arrested for drunken driving could have their vehicle impounded for as long as six hours under a bill approved by Gov. James Thompson.

The new law is intended to prevent people charged with driving under the influence from posting bail and then driving away while they still are a potential menace to themselves and others.

Local police officers would be able to decide whether to seize the vehicles.

The legislation was inspired by a man in the Chicago suburbs who continued driving shortly after posting bail on a DUI arrest and caused another person's death.

The chief sponsor was Rep. Robert McNamara, D-Oak Lawn.

Madison County Sheriff Bob Church said the idea behind the legislation was good but most police departments do not have a place to hold the impounded cars and "it will create a lot of extra work."

Some drunken drivers may still not be sober enough to safely drive after six hours, Church said.

There are situations in which someone charged with DUI was taken home in a sedan car and told not to drive, but "an hour later they went back to the scene of the arrest and probably drove home or to the nearest pub," he said.

3 indicted in pipe bomb plot

SPRINGFIELD — Three members of a Hamburg family were indicted Sept. 12 for conspiracy to murder the Calhoun County state's attorney and attempted murder.

A grand jury indicted the three for an alleged plot to place a pipe bomb in the car of State's Attorney John Miller.

The indictments name Robert C. Bleitner, 40; his wife, Theresa, 35; and his son, Robert H. Bleitner, 18.

Calhoun County sheriff's deputies arrested the three close to Burch's rural home near Golden Eagle early in the morning of June 2.

The indictments allege the three planned to place a heat-activated device in the car. In Burch's car, it would have exploded after he had started the engine.

The Bleitners are now in jail on earlier charges of possessing an explosive device without a license.

The Bleitners were wearing camouflage clothing and had blackened their faces when captured by deputies. Investigators said the phone line to Burch's house had been cut.

When he appeared at a hearing earlier this summer, the elder Bleitner said the family had been coyote hunting.

Church has charged the elder Bleitner with multiple criminal sexual assault, and his wife had been charged with unlawful communications with a witness in her husband's case. They were out on bail at the time of their arrest June 2.

Illinois had Lantz Phillips' number nearly 42 years

Lantz Phillips

'LAND OF LINCOLN' first appeared on Illinois plates in 1954. Lantz Phillips has kept the same number since shortly after World War II. He has one set on display, but has kept many more in his collection, the display growing weathered. The plate on his bumper will someday join the others.

Back in his youth, he got the nickname 'Flip' — no doubt for the outspoken irreverence he retains to this day. People 'called me that. Mom and Dad didn't like it, but I didn't care what they called me as long as I got what I wanted.'

Some people collect string. Some people collect dolls. Some people even collect ex-spouses.

Lantz Phillips, 79, collects Illinois plates. But he doesn't collect any license plates — only those with a certain number. Only Illinois plates with a certain number. Only his own Illinois license plates with a certain number.

Lantz Phillips has his own license plates, all the way back to 1947.

After retiring in 1973, he turned around one day and had all 10 digits of his number. He didn't keep those plates bearing the number 999-199 for any particular reason. But there they were in his garage, so he figured "what the heck" and put them on display in his yard.

He has all this other stuff, too — various tools, nails and screws and so forth that he uses to work around the house.

"I got so much junk. You accumulate it and you can't throw it away 'cause you might need it someday."

It all started in 1946 when he came back from World War II.

'Til be 80 next month. Heck, when you get that old you don't know when you'll go.'

and bought a brand new Dodge. The government license plate the state sent him had too long for his liking and had too many different numbers. He wanted something short and easy to remember.

Phillips is a man who likes to keep things simple.

Want a new license number? Don't waste time dealing with flunkies at the Department of Motor Vehicles. Do like Phillips did. Go to the top.

Write the governor.

He wrote Gov. Henry Horner. "A lot of people wouldn't have that much gumption," Phillips said.

Horner wrote Phillips, saying he couldn't do anything about his request but would turn the matter over to the proper government office.

It worked. "By golly, he did!" Phillips said of Horner. "That was pretty nice, 'cause I was a Republican at that time and he was a Democrat."

You get the impression after talking to him for a few hours that he made a point of mentioning that in his letter.

Phillips wanted all six numbers to be the same, but he years before her death at age 84. He has relatives he doesn't see much of.

"I'll be 80 next month. Heck, when you get that old you don't know when you'll go."

His social life isn't entirely circumscribed by such innocent activities as fishing. "An old gal out on Division Street calls me up once in a while, wantin' this and that."

Back in his youth, he got the nickname "Flip" — no doubt for the outspoken irreverence he retains to this day.

This letter is to thank you for your business this past year and also to notify you of our "Fall furnace start up special."

With the long cold winter nights just around the corner it is time to get the furnace checked and cleaned as well as to help prevent costly breakdowns as well as obtain maximum operating efficiency of your system. Our ten part start up special includes:

1. Clean and check for dirt and debris on burners can cause incomplete burning of gas and increase your fuel cost.

2. Check flue or chimney for draft. Squirrels, birds and soot can clog a flue almost overnight.

3. Check for burner exchanger. This is the heart of the furnace and should be inspected annually.

4. Blower motor and fan. Oiling and cleaning can add years of life to these components.

5. Thermostat. Heat anticipator settings have as much to do with comfort inside your home as proper clothing does outside.

6. Fan and limit control. Fan should cycle on and off without wasting fuel. The limit is your protection against overheating.

7. Check valves and pilot assembly. A clean assembly will help keep your pilot burning and save you money.

8. Check filters. If you need extra filters call us with size and we will bring them with us when you set up your cleaning.

9. Power supply. Check fuses or circuit breaker for proper size. Check general condition of wiring connections.

10. Gas piping at furnace. Check for leaks or deterioration of pipe and fittings.

The cost of this service is only $18.95* Our customers are being notified of this opportunity in advance of newspaper ads so you can schedule your "Fall start up special" at your convenience. We thank you for your business and hope we can continue to service your heating, A/C, and plumbing in the future.

*Filters and defective parts if required are extra

*Pilot assembly is $1.00 higher

*Coupons are not valid w/other

Many Hearing Problems Can Be Helped.

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. For your free sample send your name, address, and phone number today to: Department 88093, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Campbell, Caseyville; two daughters, Cecelia Marcus, Granite City, and Mrs. David (Cheryl) Russell Walker, Granite City, and Howard Walker, Panhandle, Texas; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services along with Flood, Broadway and Barker were R.C. Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, and Walter "Shang" Greathouse, MSED president.

At a news conference, Greathouse dramatized the force with which stormwater flows from such upland areas as Millstadt and Fairview Heights into Hardin Ditch in Columbia, Mo., and how that channel will prevent flooding and carry the water to the Mississippi River.

Broadway said the $31 million plan is estimated and worded.

"Protect this region from destructive river flooding."

"Prevent damage costing millions of dollars each year."

"Create construction jobs

now and remove a barrier to future economic and job expansion."

His division has agreed to provide $800,000 of the cost and is ready to provide oversight of MSED operations both during the project and afterward.

Actual contracts would be awarded and monitored by the Army Engineers Corps' St. Louis District, he noted.

The work would include rehabilitating the Madison-St. Clair counties network of 27 river floodgates and the floodwall of East St. Louis, he said.

Also proposed are dredging of drainage ditches, modernization of pump stations, and installation of deep wells and pumps to reduce groundwater levels.

Seniors arrange Springfield trip; Girl Scouts start year

The Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will travel on Amtrak to Springfield, Ill., on Oct. 21.

The group will leave at 8:15 a.m. at the train depot, 3400 College Ave., Alton.

The group's itinerary will include the State Capitol Building, the Old Capitol Building, the Centennial Building, the Illinois State Museum, Lincoln's Home and the Visitor's Center.

The group will arrive at 5 p.m. in the banquet room of the Green Turtle Restaurant near the depot for dinner before boarding the train at 7:07 p.m. for the return trip to Alton.

Tom and Delores Scott, 3113 W. Chain of Rocks Road, flew to Las Vegas with a group of seniors on a five-day Presley's Tour. The group stayed at the Imperial Palace Hotel, played at

The Chouteau Quilters Club donated $50 toward the cost of the 35th anniversary Chouteau Township Quilters' Fair, which was held Oct. 30 at the Township Social Center, 906 N. Thorngate Drive.

The check was presented Friday to Ruth Ann Oster, one of the party's organizers, by Sally Segar, Quilters Club president.

Faith Chapel General Baptist, 664 Ashland Ave., was the scene of the 35th anniversary celebration of the church.

All-day services were held, and dinner was served in the Fellowship Hall at noon. Pastor Avery Morris was the speaker during the morning service, and the Rev. Cletis Gobble was the guest speaker for the afternoon service.

Gobble, who was accompanied by his wife, Thelma, is pastor at the Brown Church at Puxico, Mo.

Lou Hall, 1253 Murphy Lane, accompanied the family of her granddaughter, Diana Kee, husband, Jeff, and children Jessica, Joshua and Jamie to Mattoon, Ill., on Sunday to be the guest of honor at a birthday party to mark her second birthday.

Bill and Clarence Rife, 23-A Wanda, have returned from a two-week vacation in Panama City, Fla., where they visited their son, Master Sgt. Dennis Williford, and his wife, Debra. The Rifes' vacation host went fishing on lakes at the Tyndall Air Force Base where Dennis is stationed. The group combed the beaches in search of sea-shells, including the fragile sand dollar.

The Rifes made a side trip to Great Shores, Alton, to visit Mrs. Rife's sister, Bernice Delashmidt, and her husband, George. They were joined there by another sister, Wanda Parker, and her husband, Ernest, from Picayune, Miss.

The Rifes also visited their son, Dale Williford, and his wife, Charlotte, in Jackson, Miss., before returning home in time to attend the third annual reunion of former employees of the Woolworth Stores.

About 35 former employees attended the reunion at Walton's Restaurant in Cottonwood Mall, Glen Carbon.

The Girl Scouts of Mitchell School kicked off another year of scouting Sept. 16 with a Sock Hop at the Chouteau Township Hall.

The girls enjoyed an evening of dance and socializing while their mothers registered them for this year's scouting program.

The hall was decorated with glittering music notes made by the girls.

Daisy Girl Scouts attending were: Rhea Miller, Amanda Rinehart, Brittany Courtois, Kendall Rinehart, Kara Wallace, Amy Crites, Amanda Cooperotti and Sarah Doty.

They were accompanied by their parents: Colleen Miller, with Brought Noriega to justice? What kind?

To the editor:
In the presidential debate Vice President Bush said he had brought the Panamanian dictator Noriega to justice for his role in supplying drugs to the U.S. Also that he believes in the death penalty.

Noriega is still very much alive and enjoying his freedom and power in Panama.

Is this the kind of "justice" that Bush provides for drug peddlers?

Mr. Bush says he will be tough on terrorists. We lost 241 good Marines in Lebanon, not to mention many others who were maimed and crippled for life.

Prior to that, our embassy had been bombed. In the past eight years there were other bombings and hijackings.

After the tragic, useless loss of our marines in Lebanon our military was sent to the poor island of Grenada to save a group of students from the Communists.

The loss of innocent lives was again repeated due to poor logistics. Maybe they should have sent the Boy Scouts.

Finally, our military undertook a bombing and shelling of Libya and a number of innocent people, including children, were killed.

Was this justice?

Not, we sent in the Navy to the Middle East to keep the oil flowing. Not to us, but to Japan and Europe. Again we had a heavy loss of life on one of our ships hit by a missile.

Our military's role to the terrorists was to shoot down a civilian airliner killed in innocent people, including children.

Is this his idea of justice?

We are expected to believe that in our system of justice, everyone is to be considered innocent until proven guilty.

Were any of the victims of our actions given this opportunity?

Were any of the real terrorists brought to justice and punished?

The costs in bringing these criminals and their "justice" is in billions. Many innocent people have died and many crippled while the criminals and terrorists remain free.

Where was George during these events?

Hold elected officials accountable

To the editor:

A few years ago, in a widely publicized and rather brutal case in Wisconsin, a local judge with antiquated thinking let a rapist off with a proverbial slap on the wrist while placing the blame on the victim of the crime.

Needless to say, this resulted in a public outcry and the judge was forced into a recall election.

If this would have happened in Illinois there would have been nothing the public could have done about it except wait years until the judge came up for retrial. Our Illinois state constitution does not give voters the safeguard to recall incompetent or unethical officials from office before their terms are up.

Twenty-eight states currently have some form of recall process available to their citizens.

This recall power is rarely used but works well in these states. It helps voters to hold elected officials accountable throughout their terms, not just on election day.

We need a state constitutional amendment that would cover all Illinois elected officials from the governor on down. Any official would be subject to a recall election upon the petition of 20 percent of the registered voters in his district. This would make it difficult enough that it would not be abused.

Readers can help by cutting this letter out of the paper, signing it, and sending it to Mike Boland, 3446 3rd St., East Moline, IL 61244 and by voting yes on Nov. 8 on a constitutional convention to propose this reform.

Traffic hazard at 111, Sand Prairie

To the editor:
With Senator Simon's help, we were instrumental in passing a law for the permanently handicapped to vote in their homes.

I am again going to ask for his help.

I live in a small subdivision of 22 homes, called Lake View Terrace.

There are two streets in our subdivision; one is called Thiebler and the other Sand Prairie Lane.

Both streets run into Illinois 111.

The traffic on 111 is very high in volume, and speed limits are exceeded, causing deaths and injuries.

The latest death occurred a few days ago. Previously, there were five in the past eight years.

All members of this subdivision agree there should be a dusk-to-dawn light at both streets leading into 111.

Also, a speed limit sign of 35 or 40 miles per hour should be installed before reaching this destination.

The state highway department did put a left-turn turning lane in 111 to Sand Prairie Lane. It helps, but the traffic still exceeds the speed limit.

Help would be greatly appreciated. The life saved could be one of the subdivision residents.

All members of this subdivision have signed a petition agreeing to this solution.

There are many children who use school buses on Sand Prairie Lane.

Ignorance inflicts great deal of pain

To the editor:
This letter is directed to the parents and all others protesting the recent decision of a 10-year-old boy with AIDS-related AIDS to go to a school in Granite City and currently a school in South Roxana.

What makes you perfect people so self-righteous? Are you not aware that the person preparing your food in your local restaurant may be a carrier of the HIV virus which causes AIDS?

The person packing your meat in the supermarket may be a carrier of the virus, standing next to you to be catered.

Let us hope there is no infidelity going on in any of your lives. You may become a victim of your own prejudice. And God forbid that any one of you receive a tainted blood transfusion.

Ignorance inflicts a great deal of pain on innocent victims and their families who are already dealing with the harsh reality of a terminal disease. Unless of child goes around biting other children or does intravenous drugs with other children, there is no reason why he should not be allowed to attend a school of his choice.

I have three school-age children of my own and a registered nurse. I would have no objections to this child attending their school. People's negative attitudes need adjustment.

A person does not have to name an individual to serve as an executor. A bank can also be designated to serve in this capacity. One reason for naming a bank is that you don't have to worry about the qualifications of the executor as is the case with an individual person. A bank trust officer many also have more expertise in handling complex business transactions than would a relative or friend. Of course, a bank's trust department will charge a fee for its services.

Recently an individual came to this office to have a will prepared. This person had accumulated substantial assets during his lifetime. Due to the complexity in his business affairs, he wanted to name an executor who was familiar with his family situation but yet also had the necessary expertise to competently perform his duties. In this case, it was recommended that the individual name his son as co-executor with a local bank's trust department. He established this arrangement because he felt his son would be familiar with his family's needs and at the same time be able to look to the professional executor for management and guidance.

When an individual has a will prepared, one decision that must be made is who will serve as the executor. The function of the executor is to take care of the finances owing to the estate and to make sure that debts of the deceased are paid. In addition, the executor manages the estate until it is settled, which may involve engaging a lawyer and other advisors in some cases.

Illinois law requires an individual executor to be a resident of the state, a resident of the United States, and a person of sound mind. Contrary to popular opinion, an executor does not have to be a resident of Illinois. Thus person making a will in this state can name an individual residing in a different part of the country as an executor.

In light of these duties and requirements, what type of individual should one choose as his executor? Most knowledgeable people would recommend that the person making a will name someone who is impartial and competent to trustworthy to serve in this capacity. In addition, it would be helpful if the designated person has some degree of business expertise and is familiar with family affairs of the individual who named him as

Study supports flood plan

The Press-Record/Journal in its Wednesday issues has been discussing the flood protection and drainage tax rate question that will be on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Aided greatly by $25,250,000 in non-property tax funds, a $31 million public works project is proposed for Metro East.

The project's planning has been in progress for most of this year and the program now has been bolstered by a new engineering study. The conclusions are that the rehabilitation work is urgent, and that every bit of the $31 million is going to be needed.

At the request of the Army Corps of Engineers' St. Louis District, the extent of needed repairs and the associated cost to upgrade flood protection facilities along the Mississippi River in Metro East are being examined by Horner & Shifrin Inc., design engineers/architects.

The examination includes existing conditions of structures and equipment, determining the required repairs, and re-evaluating the cost of such work as estimated in previous engineering reports prepared for the Corps and the Metro East Sanitary District.

We are protected from the Mis-issippi River by a system of levees, channels and pump stations, many of which were constructed in the first half of this century.

Although the H&S study will not be completed until November, early indications are that the original cost estimates represent a minimum for the proposed improvements.

"Fortunately, the East St. Louis pump station which was originally part of the estimate has already been renovated with emergency funds," William Shirley, H&S project manager for the study, said. "However, we are discovering other deficiencies which could more than make up for that cost. The point is, from what we know now, MESD is going to need every cent of whatever revenues the people are willing to provide."

There is no doubt that maintaining and upgrading the MESD flood protection system will be costly. But it is necessary and worthwhile because it will protect millions of dollars of investment in homes, businesses and industries in Madison and St. Clair counties, as well as the lives and livelihood of over half a million people."

Real fund answers needed

Verbal exchanges between Illinois Gov. James Thompson and East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer won't solve the city's ever-worsening financial woes but some form of dialogue, abrasive or not, is needed.

The city government cannot just continue on its existing path, frequently revising its budget to lay off bigger and bigger portions of its already shrunken staff of employees.

The basic problem is that an inadequate amount of taxes and other revenue is being received to meet the cost of basic services. Since those services are essential, some kind of new approach is required.

The issue primarily affects East St. Louis but it also has an impact on St. Clair County, the entire Metro East region, the bi-state metropolitan area and the Illinois state government.

It will be recalled that several years ago, the governor and legislators provided direct Illinois State Police service within the city, which was failing to effectively combat a high crime rate.

The crime level is attributed to widespread poverty, too few city police, and growing difficulty in maintaining adequate supplies of patrol cars and other basic equipment.

Troopers assigned to East St. Louis have done a good job but the overall city-state effort has not been enough to halt a tragic situation in which many robberies, kidnaps, rapes and numerous residents usually under 18 in the 20s and 30s, suffer violent injuries and deaths. It is noteworthy that the state has continued these "safe streets" efforts despite budget limitations that have caused a halt in nighttime highway patrols by troopers in most of Illinois' 102 counties.

Illinois Transportation Secretary Greg Baise announced Sept. 30 that motor fuel tax payments to East St. Louis will be halted indefinitely because the money was being used for unauthorized types of expenditures. Repayment of $3 million is sought.

In a related matter, the governor said he planned to talk to legislative leaders about the appointment of a task force to study the city's fiscal problems and recommend solutions.

Thompson said he wants the task force to meet between now and the General Assembly's fall veto session, which will start immediately after the Nov. 8 general election. "I don't see this as a state versus city situation, but the time has come to resolve this problem," the governor said.

Speculation developed that the city might go bankrupt and cease functioning, so that the state might seek to take it over. A Thompson aide responded that the state has no desire or authority to begin operating the city.

The mayor voiced resentment at the state's actions and on Oct. 3 filed a federal lawsuit against the governor, alleging there is a takeover plan involving use of the Illinois National Guard. Thompson's press secretary called the allegation fanciful and unrelated to facts.

Meanwhile, Mayor Officer is trying to obtain low-interest loans to tide the city over until a budget balance can be achieved. He contends the task force would need to dissolve the city.

With few dollars on hand and a number of accounts frozen, the challenge of saving the more than 50,000 residents is a critical concern. A loan here and there might be a partial answer but surely would offer no real remedy.

Talk and action — both directed at the heart of the dilemma rather than its periphery — must be the objective of all who care about East St. Louis and its future.

City should pass on overpass

To the editor:

And also to the attention of our city officials.

My opinion of the pedestrian overpass is as follows:

I am strongly against it. First of all, I see no reason there is not a closed high school campus. But if there is to be an open campus, make it a senior privilege possibly.

Secondly, what was wrong with our traffic lights that were installed for the students to use? If students want to learn to cross the street watching a very obvious red and green traffic light by the time they are high school age, they should not be crossing the street at all.

I have been through that light many times, as a driver, and the students don't even honor the light. They cross, no matter what, knowing you have to stop. I have sat through as many as two green lights before having a chance to go. Where are the driver's rights?

The local businesses in the area depend on the students for financial reasons, then let them pitch in and pay for the overpass.

I also cannot believe the school cannot accommodate these kids on lunch, because it has been done in the past with many larger classes. So what?

This overpass is a big waste of money, regardless of who is paying for it. This city needs to use its money wisely.

Please, I am urging the citizens of Granite City to respond.

Speak out and write. Is there anyone who feels as I do?

New bus aiding local retarded

Recently, a new bus was purchased by the Tri-Cities Area Association for Retarded Inc.

As noted in the Granite City Press-Record, we were helped by Tri-Cities Area United Way funding and by local businesses. We also want to thank all of the local individuals and out-of-state individuals and businesses for their funding, large and small.

We are grateful for all of the funding we received.

New front in the war on drugs

To the editor:

Before this day ends 5,000 Americans will be arrested. This year, approximately 2,000 Americans will be arrested for drug-related crimes, and more than 2,700 boats and planes will smuggle illegal drugs into the country.

Twenty-three million Americans use marijuana at least once a month. Six million Americans use cocaine on a regular basis. Over a half-million Americans are addicted to heroin.

In Illinois alone, the economy loses an estimated $7 billion annually because of drug-related crime, including care costs and lost worker productivity.

Clearly, drugs are an epidemic ravaging our society and stealing our most valuable asset: our children.

We must fight back. As a member of the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control, I joined my colleagues, Senators DeConcini and D'Amato, in introducing a bill to launch an urgently needed offensive against drugs.

That bill, the Drug Abuse Act of 1988 sets out a new, innovative and balanced approach to addressing both the demand and supply sides of the narcotics problem.

Stronger law enforcement is needed to stop drug supplies available on our streets.

In addition to increasing resources for state and local law enforcement, we need to provide direct assistance to state and local governments for the construction of new prisons to eliminate jail overcrowding resulting from increasing drug arrests.

Enforcement efforts must be stepped up at the federal level as well.

New resources are needed for additional drug enforcement personnel, drug interdiction assets, and operations money for the Coast Guard, the Drug Enforcement Agency, the Customs Service, Border Patrol and other law enforcement bureaus.

However, as long as there is a demand for drugs, there will be a supply to meet that demand.

Moreover, we must redouble our efforts to reduce the demand: We must focus our efforts at home, in schools, and in the media to let our young people know how dangerous drugs are.

In addition, treatment centers must be provided to never reoffend. Due to shortages of personnel and facilities, people who want to get off drug face waits of more than six months before they can even get into a program.

I also supported a bill that recently passed the Senate which allows for the death penalty for those who murder law enforcement officers and innocent people in drug-related crimes.

Finally, we need to crack down on drug users and consider strong measures like revoking the driver's license of convicted drug users.

I believe we must do everything in our power to turn the tide in the war on drugs. This is a war we cannot afford to lose. Too much is at stake. I will continue to fight until we have won.

Changing our policy

"Names and faces in these here places" best describe what a reader looks for in the local newspaper. For any editor who we can't see, any editor who we can't identify.

We shouldn't, but unfortunately, in trying to put out a quality paper with the fewest inconveniences, that's exactly what we've been doing.

Granite City reader Connie Ballantyne, unkindly pointing a long discussion, among the paper's editors recently when she brought in a picture and write-up about her daughter, who had just competed in a "little miss" pageant. The requested publication was turned down, because the daughter had not won the pageant.

Before you call us with charges, we accept any old photo of these placing in a beauty pageant, we may get an influx of such photos that we won't have room to print. Why should we do it?

Perhaps the best question is: Why not? Why should we not be prepared to turn just about any local photo that comes through the door? After all, isn't that what readers want to see, by their own definition of "news"?

I took that question to Publisher Rick Jarvis. He agreed our policy on pageants was overbearing and in need of a revamp. He also agreed that if space became available, he'll make the space available.

In this day and age of competition for newspaper space, any commitment to an increase is a victory for the newsroom.

We add one more space, there is no reason for us not to accept more such photos.

I hope this change in policy will encourage other newsworthy items. We like hundreds of other newspapers from coast to coast, are only just realizing what readers want to us.

Perhaps we've got Connie Ballantyne to thank for it.

IP inspects nuclear shipment

DECATUR — Illinois Power Co., the local supplier of electric power to Southeast Illinois, has received the first of six shipments of nuclear fuel to the Clinton Power Station.

The fuel will be used to replenish the reactor at the station, which is about 27 percent of its fuel complement. The fuel arrived at the station Sept. 26.

The 168 new fuel bundles will be placed in the reactor during a scheduled outage in January 1989. During this refueling outage, Illinois Power also will perform maintenance and modification modifications, and tests requiring the station to be out of service.

Employees will inspect the fuel shipment by lifting a fuel bundle by crane to a stand, then cleaning and inspecting the bundle. A square, circular tube will be placed over each bundle to make a complete fuel assembly, which then will be stored in a vault until it is loaded into the reactor.

Illinois Power expects to have all the fuel inspected and stored by Nov. 4.

Through the end of August, the fuel currently in the reactor had generated more than 5.7 billion kilowatt-hours since the Clinton Power Station went into service in April 1987. A spokesman added.

Nuclear fuel consists of uranium-oxide fabricated into cylindrical pellets that measure about $\frac{1}{2}$ inch long and $\frac{1}{2}$ inch in diameter. The pellets contain various amounts of uranium-235.

More than 300 fuel pellets are in each long, zircaloy tube called a fuel rod. There are a total of more than 14 million pellets in the reactor. The rods are low in radioactivity until after they are used in the reactor. A person would receive less radiation exposure from standing next to a new fuel bundle for four hours than he would from a normal chest X-ray in a few seconds.

Each square fuel bundle has 60 fuel rods, measures about 14 feet long, and weighs about 660 pounds.

A full reactor core has 624 fuel bundles; 168 fuel bundles, or 27 percent of the reactor core, will be replaced during the scheduled refueling in January 1989.

A fuel bundle costs about $250,000.

One fuel bundle generates about 40.7 million kilowatt-hours of electricity. This is enough electricity to light up 4,371 homes for a year.

The equivalent dollar amount of coal at $250,000 coal purchase would fill 80 railroad cars and generate 17 million kilowatt-hours or enough electricity for 3,600 homes for a year. To match the generation of one nuclear fuel bundle, 191 railroad cars full of coal would be needed at a cost of $611,000.

About 72,000 barrels of oil at a cost of more than $1.5 million would be needed to match the generation of a single nuclear fuel bundle.

Workers wear white cloth gloves, lab coats, and surgeons' caps during fuel receipt to maintain the cleanliness of the fuel.

ment, will be available for moderately priced new homes through 16 participating home builders. The program will be available until the mortgage funds allocated for each builder are exhausted. Legislation authorizing issuance of bonds on Dec. 31. Congress now is considering legislation to extend the date through 1990.

Insurance complaints annual list released

The Illinois Department of Insurance has released its 1987 complaint ratios for personal lines insurance: automobile, homeowners, individual life, individual accident and health, and group accident and health.

Illinois law already requires stringent control of industrial sources of air pollution and has implemented the nation's largest centralized vehicle emission testing program.

The sanctions would prevent construction of any new source that has a potential of emitting 100 tons yearly or more of volatile organic compounds.

Large chemical plants, automobile assembly plants and refineries are examples of large sources that would typically have emissions greater than 100 tons.

Loan program to help first-time home buyers

Gov. Jim Thompson on Friday announced the start of a new program that will offer $85.5 million in mortgage loans to first-time home buyers at an interest rate of 8.45 percent.

The fixed-rate, 30-year loans, requiring a 5 percent down payment, will be available for moderately priced new homes through 16 participating home builders. The program will be available until the mortgage funds allocated for each builder are exhausted. Legislation authorizing issuance of bonds on Dec. 31. Congress now is considering legislation to extend the date through 1990.

Information on the 8.45 percent program and other mortgage programs is available at 1-800-942-8439.

Federal funds to aid fight against alcohol

Illinois has received $2.3 million in federal Alcohol Traffic Safety Initiative (ATSI) funds for state programs aimed at preventing alcohol-related accidents. The figure could be increased to $11.6 million during the next five years.

Gov. Jim Thompson said the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Traffic Safety will use the additional funds for statewide programs to address the drunken driving problem with emphasis on enforcement, youth record keeping systems, and public information and education.

The department has long supported educational programs with the themes "Don't Drive Drunk" and "Friends, Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk."

"With these new federal dollars, Illinois will operate additional highway safety checkpoints in its battle to keep unsafe vehicles and drivers who use alcohol and other drugs off our state's highways," Thompson said. "We believe that the fear of arrest and prosecution is one of the best deterrents to drunk driving."

Hazardous waste from homes collected

The first state-sponsored household hazardous waste collection program resulted in the safe disposal of more than 600 drums of potentially dangerous materials in Quincy, Ill. More than 270 residents participated in the program.

Enamel, latex and oil-based paints accounted for more than one-third of the drums. Other materials included aerosol containers, batteries, flammable solvents, organic and inorganic poisons, pesticides, asbestos and recyclable waste oil.

Scott AF Base projects funded

By Edward T. Hearn
P-R Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — As expected, President Reagan on Sept. 22 signed the new military construction budget that targets $14.5 million for three projects at Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

The signing came two weeks after Congress overwhelmingly approved the $9.1 billion measure. Congress set aside $400 million of that amount for secret projects, an aide to Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., said.

Reagan paved the way for $7.5 million in new military spending in Illinois with the largest single portion of the money going to Scott, located in Dixon's hometown.

The measure provides $12.8 million for the new U.S. Transcom headquarters, $1.1 million for an approach control tower and $600,000 for an in-flight meals preparation facility.

The Transcom building needed Dixon's special attention for a while when Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., got the Senate Appropriations Committee to funding. Sasser was in a dispute with Scott officials over the basing of 12 cargo planes.

The new Transcom headquarters will serve as the U.S. global command center for the movement of U.S. armed forces during wars and crises. More than 400 new employees will staff the facility.

20-millionth veteran given GI Bill benefits

A major milestone in the 44-year history of Veterans Administration education benefit was observed this fall in a ceremony recognizing the 20 millionth GI Bill participant.

VA Administrator Thomas K. Turnage and House Veterans Affairs Committee Chairman Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery (D-Miss.) jointly recognized Steven C. Scott of Canton, Ohio, who will continue his college education in 1988-89 using benefits earned during two years of Army service.

Scott is eligible for the Montgomery GI Bill — the newest version of VA education assistance available to those entering military service after June 20, 1985.

The Capitol Hill ceremony noted the significance of all GI Bill programs that since 1944 have delivered education and assistance to veterans, dependents and active-duty members.

GI Bill benefits have covered such education and training programs as college graduate students, technical schools, apprenticeships and on-the-job training.

Scott, 25, is pursuing a degree in finance at Ohio State University. He served in an Army Signal Corps unit from 1985 to 1987 as a communications specialist in a simultaneous National Guard and Army ROTC program. His GI Bill benefits amount to $363 per month.

Participants in GI Bill education programs can include 1.8 million World War II veterans; 2.4 million Korean war veterans; 8.1 million Vietnam war veterans and active-duty service personnel; 169,000 in the peacekeeping Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP); 1.1 million in the Vocational Rehabilitation Program; 481,000 dependents of deceased and disabled veterans; and 513,000 in the current Montgomery GI Bill program.

Under the Montgomery GI Bill participants on active duty have their basic pay reduced by $100 a month for the first 12 months of service.

After a three-year active-duty commitment is completed, a veteran is entitled to $300 a month basic benefits for 36 months. Called the "veteran commitment," it entitles a veteran to $250 a month for 36 months.

Participants who enlist in the Selected Reserve for a six-year period are eligible for education benefits after a year of active-duty training and 180 days of service in the Active Reserve. Education benefits for reservists are $140 a month for 36 months.

Message by Eisenbeis, others persuasive to local groups

Anti-tax people can be hostile to almost any proposal. In Illinois, they use a "don't tread on me" theme with an ink-drawn snake poised to strike.

But sometimes citizens are eager to approve a tax, if they understand how desirable it is and how devastating its failure would be. A case in point may be the tax rate question on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Granite City Rotarians this week seemed powerfully affected by the message brought by Jim Eisenbeis, retiring Chamber of Commerce president, and Jim Broadway, campaign director of Citizens for Flood Protection.

A $31 MILLION public works project was outlined, including $20 million in non-taxary tax funds. The target: flooding from the river, surface runoff and excessive groundwater.

The two Jims said a "Yes" vote on the Metro East Sanitary District tax rate question is the only guarantee of federal and state funds to come.

• Protect homes and businesses from the threat of the ravaging Mississippi River.

• Solve the groundwater problem that causes up to $3 million in property damage every year.

• Increase property values of businesses and homes.

• Generate hundreds of jobs in the region.

• Give hope for economic growth and for additional jobs.

THE SPEAKERS said, "We have one chance to renew the flood protection network, to reduce annual surface-water damage to homes and property, and build for the future at federal expense. Let's take it."

We live and work in a flood plain taken from Mother Nature, and now she wants it back.

Historically, the 100 square mile area from the Mississippi River to the bluffs was a part of the flat plain, low and flat. The river used it as a holding place for water rushing in from miles around.

It was a habitat for wildlife and for pioneers, hardy people willing to take the frequent meanderings of the river.

"We couldn't resist taking it. Other than the water problem, the area was ideal. It was at a favorable location, near markets, natural, beautiful soil and largely unforested. And, of course, there was plenty of water."

"WE BUILT CITIES and claimed this land for ourselves. In 1907 we established a flood protection district supported by a property tax of 21.68 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a rate still unchanged today."

"Using this financial base, we built 33 miles of levees with 27 floodgates, pushing the river out."

"To catch stormwater from a 100-square-mile area, we created major canals and a network of diversion channels and dredged miles of ditches. We installed pumping and lift stations to move 200 million gallons of water through the system every year."

"Our flood protection system is an engineering masterpiece. For decades it has held the river back to the west, and taken water from the eastern water shed and moved it into the river."

"After the system was put in place, residential and industrial growth made the original tax rate sufficient to dredge the canals and ditches, replace the pumps and repair the gates."

By the 1940s and 1960s, deterioration began to set in. Work for good to them who love the Lord. Give your love to God. Today.

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

In the last six years, the base lost another $1 million.

During the same time, operational costs of the district have soared because of:

• Inflation in wages and prices

• Increases in the amount of surface water flowing into this region, resulting from rapid development and construction throughout the watershed and in the flood plain.

• Aging of the flood protection system, making it costlier to maintain.

"METRO EAST'S budgets have fallen along with the property values. MESD has taxed at its maximum rate, raising about $1 million in operating funds each year."

"These costs have meant the MESD has been able to do less and less every year in terms of controlling surface water and maintaining flood control."

"According to a special task force established by Gov. James Thompson, the MESD is now $21 million behind in its system maintenance. The total system is substandard."

"The MESD has reformed from its past misdeeds in days. It is an efficient district, but it is burdened heavily by its past. The flood control system is virtually worn out, and there is the threat of a major flood."

"The Corps of Engineers reports the network of 27 floodgates is vulnerable to failure."

"THE FLOODGATES always kept the water from the river rose beyond floodstage, until October 1986, when only one of the gates failed and part of East St. Louis was flooded. It was Mother Nature's warning shot. The Corps of Engineers said each of the 27 floodgates is just

Psalm 126:5 "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy."

There are many of us who do not understand the art of sowing and reaping. We plant seeds in the ground and we reap a harvest. Of course, we understand that we must be patient and have patience until harvest time. There are not many things we sow and expect to reap in a single day.

However, there are many very different things we can do in this season. We know if we plant corn, we harvest corn. Plant wheat, harvest wheat. What about the other things we sow? We sow tears, and harvest joy! For whatever purpose those tears were shed, for whatever reason those were shed, the harvest is going to be joy!

"After the 1940s and 1960s, deterioration began to set in. Work for good to them who love the Lord. Give your love to God. Today.

as vulnerable to failure.

"If the system is not rehabilitated, our region inevitably will be crippled economically."

"Despite the economic decline of the last decade or two, our area remains a prime place for new development," pointed out the groundwater and the flood threat are taking their toll. Flood insurance is costly and increasingly unavailable."

"In addition to inhibiting the attraction of new industries, the water problems are devaluing homes and properties."

"THE WATER TABLE" rising due to increased hillside runoff and reduced drawing of groundwater for manufacturing purposes — causes increased damage every year.

"A system of deep wells and pumps can lower the water table and keep surface water from flooding on streets and flowing into properties."

"This issue is vital to everyone," the speakers said with considerable understatement.

They hope the public will respond with what they see as the remedy for a wide range of serious problems — a "Yes" vote on the Nov. 8 MESD question.

SLUH next mission for Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Now it's time to get down to some serious business.

Although it was hard to tell how the Warriors would fare in the Tournament of Champions due to their strike-induced layoff, they haven't had much trouble so far. They breezed past Chaminade 4-0 on Monday, then cruised past Rosary 3-0 on Wednesday.

The victory puts Granite City at 2-0 in Group D play. Granite City, which has been getting past Rosary today at 3:10 p.m., the Warriors and Junior Bulldogs will square off Friday at 8:30 p.m. for the right to advance to Saturday's semifinals.

"If we can play defense, we can give them some problems," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "But they are a very intelligent team, and have some depth. They can play very well. It will be a tremendous test."

The Warriors (3-1 on the field, 3-13 overall) haven't been tremendously tested so far in the tournament. They outshot Rosary 15-4 on Wednesday, but kept the game open on a pair of penalty kicks in the second quarter after Matt Cook had opened the scoring in the first quarter.

"They were some clearly plays that were well taken," Baker said. "We are forcing the action and getting the penalty kicks by getting pulled down from behind. That's our team speed."

Granite City came out flying and played an outstanding first quarter against the Rebels. But there were no scoreboard results until 16:43. Chris Nolan took a penalty kick from the right corner. Then Adams took it, curled and chipped a shot off the crossbar. Cook was in position for the rebound and nudged the ball in off his knee.

"We started out quickly," Baker said. "We were running the ball very well. I'm very happy with the progress of this team."

Moving forward some more in the second 20 minutes, Granite City broke it open. Cook was pulled down to the right of the goal at 23:13, and senior captain Chris Ryan scored his first of the season on a penalty kick to FACE FULL OF BALL: John VanBuskirk of the Warriors heads the ball off the face of Chaminade's Clay Berry during Monday's action at the Tournament of Champions.

Chris Nolan had the honors as he scored his second penalty kick goal in as many tournaments games at 27:47.

From there on the Warriors controlled play for the most part. They had seven corner kickoffs to one for the Rebels. Rosary had a shot that just went over the top of the goal as time expired. But they didn't come much closer.

"Rosary is vastly improved," Baker said. "They showed some kickoff to one for the Rebels. Rosary had a shot that just went over the top of the goal as time expired. But they didn't come much closer.

Olympic special

Trittschuh 'honored to go'

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The simple house on Pontoon Road gives little indication of who lives inside.

There are no neon Olympic rings in the front yard. There are no U.S. flags draped all over the porch. There is hardly any indication that inside resides a member of the United States Olympic team.

That's probably the way Steve Trittschuh likes it. Like thousands of other boys growing up in Granite City, he would rather play soccer. The fact that he played the game as well or better than just about anybody to spring from this town made his journey a little different.

Trittschuh, 18, had been to South Korea last month as Trittschuh was one of 20 young men to represent Uncle Sam in the 1988 Olympic soccer tournament. The tall, tall would have Trittschuh leading the underdog Americans to stunning victory and the gold medal.

The facts are that the 1983 graduate of Granite City North High School never got off the bench in three games as the Americans failed to advance out of preliminary competition. That was frustrating, but Trittschuh is able now to put the experience in its proper perspective.

"There were 20 guys in the whole country who got to be on the soccer team," he said. "I was one of them. The coach (Lothar Osiander) did what he thought was best for the team to play, but I'll always have the memories and the moments. I was honored to go."

This wasn't the awe-inspiring experience Trittschuh wanted it to be for many other Olympians. He had been in South Korea twice before playing in tournaments. In fact, Trittschuh has played in nine foreign countries. But this was the Olympics.

"It was almost like another tournament for us," Trittschuh said. "We weren't able to walk in the opening ceremonies and we stayed about 12 hours south of Seoul. But we went to England for the sendoff for all the athletes. So we got into the spirit. And when we looked back at it, it will be pretty neat."

Trittschuh played two of their three games in Taegu and one in Pusan. They stayed at a hotel in Taegu with the other soccer teams in their group — the Soviet Union, South Korea and Argentina. Security was just a bit tight.

BACK HOME: The U.S. soccer team might not have beaten the Soviets at the Olympics, but Steve Trittschuh got one of the Russian jerseys in a post-game exchange. He also received a medal (inset) for participating in the Games.

and Argentina. Security was just a bit tight.

"Everywhere we went there were guys following us with guns," Trittschuh said. "But it wasn't too bad. Eighty percent of the people there really like Americans."

There was plenty of sightseeing and shopping when the team wasn't playing, not to mention television.

"They had three Korean stations carrying the Games," Trittschuh said. "And they had the American broadcast on too. So we could watch everything that was on here on Channel 5. And all the soccer was telecast live there."

The United States opened up with a 1-0 win on Sept. 18. Mike Windischmann scored with 11 minutes left for a 1-0 lead, but the Argentinians tied it on a penalty.

Plenty more soccer left for ex-North, SIUE star

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The 1990 World Cup, hopefully the 1992 Olympics, maybe even the 1994 World Cup.

Those are all on Steve Trittschuh's mind. The 1988 Olympics were far from the end of Trittschuh's soccer career. He has lots of possibilities. But one thing seems sure. You can color Trittschuh's soccer future red, white and blue.

The defender, a 1983 graduate of Granite City North High School and two-time All-American at SIUE, will continue to play for the United States national team. He's also eyeing a professional career, but it's not likely to be overseas as he thought it might be.

"I tried out with a team in Scotland this summer," he said. "They wanted me to sign with them. They offered me a contract for everything. But I think now I really want to see soccer grow in this country."

"Next summer they are going to have some outdoor pro leagues. St. Louis is probably going to be one of the first west league. That's something I would definitely be interested in."

Trittschuh said there will likely be several smaller leagues set up on a regional basis.

"They can't do it the way the NASL (North American Soccer League) did it," he said. "They tried to get too big and it just didn't work. They need to start smaller and try to grow gradually."

Trittschuh played last year with the now-defunct St. Louis Steamers of the Major Indoor Soccer League. He said he probably through playing the indoor game, but things might have been different if the team had been more successful.

"If we had won, I think the crowds would have been there," he said. "But I don't think the MISL will make it now. The Steamers owe me $7,000, but I don't think I will ever see that money. I'm not sure I think they own a guy like Daryl Doran something like $30,000."

It will be pretty hard to get that money out of the Steamers since the Steamers now exist only in the memories of their fans.

As for the national team, Trittschuh said it will continue to get together often to train for World Cup qualifying matches which are to be held in 1990.

The Americans have already disposed of Jamaica and are now in a six-team group with Canada, Guatemala, El Salvador, Netherlands and Costa Rica.

"The top two teams will advance to the World Cup," Trittschuh said. "We should finish first in that group. On paper, it should be us and Canada. But you never know. It's tough."

Benching doesn't dim spirit

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — For the second time in as many years, Steve Trittschuh was left out in the cold just when it counted most. But if he's bitter or angry, he's hiding it well.

Trittschuh never made it off the bench during the United States' third game in the Olympics in Seoul, South Korea last month. The former high school and college All-American from Granite City was also benched in the other part of the Pan American Games during the summer of 1987.

It would seem not advisable to invite Trittschuh and national team coach Lothar Osiander to the same party, but Steve was diplomatic.

"They just decided to switch everything around three days before the tournament started," Trittschuh said. "We had been in California training for three weeks and I had been playing regularly."

Trittschuh doesn't feel there was anything personal in the decision. He said there were four other players who didn't see any playing time in Korea.

"Jim Gabarra was the guy who scored our third goal vs. Canada (in an Olympic qualifying match) and he was left out," Trittschuh said. "And he never got to play. There were a couple of others. It was tough to sit, but it was an honor to be there."

Osiander never gave Trittschuh a reason why he didn't play, nor was one sought.

"It's not my style to confront the coach," Trittschuh said. "They did what they thought was best."

Playing for the national team is something Trittschuh plans to continue.

"Twelve of the 20 guys have been together for at least two years," he said. "I hope I keep in touch with most of them. I've become pretty close with some of them. John Doyle has been my roommate and we're good friends. This is the first team I've ever been on where absolutely everybody got along with each other."

...And still champion

EDWARD MITCHELL of Granite City retained his light heavyweight title in Missouri. In the KMA/KT championship on Sept. 17, Mitchell won a unanimous decision from John Leach of South County. Mitchell is also the former Missouri middleweight champion for CKC and the USA middleweight champion in full contact Tae Kwon Do for the APTA. He is the school director and chief instructor at Mitchell's School of Tae Kwon Do in Granite City.

Birth of the fishing column

It was the spring of 1946 and all the area high schools had wrapped up their athletic programs.

I had a lot of time on my hands. Both of the St. Louis Star-Times baseball writers Vern Tietjen (Cardinals) and Ray Nash (Browns) were in good health and the rest of the sports staff was beginning to take vacations or busy with regular assignments.

As the newest staff member, aside from an occasional golf or tennis column, my only duties were editing and writing heads on wire copy. Suddenly my problem was solved — or at least part of it.

At the dinner table one night, my son Al III, said, "Dad, why don't you ever take me fishing?"

The answer was easy. I had been raised in the Odd-Fellows Order in Herk, in Lincoln, Ill., and since they wouldn't permit 250 boys to just take off, we simply didn't get to go fishing.

But the question helped me fill the idle time. For a long time I had thought a weekly column about fishing conditions throughout our circulation area would gain us extra readers. I told sports editor Sid Keener and managing editor Norm Isaacs about the idea.

On Thursday night, I would take a list of resorts and call each to find out how the fish were biting at each place, then run the story in the Friday editions. As far as I can check it out, I was the first to come up with this unusual gimmick.

It paid off to my surprise, it had a serious following.

We noticed right off the bat with the next Tuesday's mail that a lot of my dates had proven false and the ones who had followed my advice were still on the devil. I was really disappointed because the idea seemed to be foolproof and potentially good service to fishermen.

Letters were routed to Keener's desk. When I returned from lunch on Wednesday, I was met by Keener.

"Al, my boy, your fishing column has laid a bad egg. The letters say you've given them bad advice. What's the story?"

For the life of me I couldn't answer him because I had made all the calls and correctly written what the resort owners told me. What could have gone wrong?

I had to come up with a solution because Keener had OK'd another shot at it. I got a lucky break. A friend of mine, Ray Ridenhauer, a postal worker from Cairo, dropped by the office and we decided to go to lunch.

"Your fishing column is a good idea," he said. "But it has one fatal error. All those resort owners are going to tell you the truth about the fishing conditions at their places and hurt their business. You'll have to get a list of game wardens who can afford to be truthful."

He figured out to be right. He had the name of the game warden stationed at Horseshoe Lake in Alexander County in southern Illinois. That game warden reluctantly agreed to help and gave me the names of other wardens throughout the midwest.

My second fishing column faced the same complaint and the idea was a great success. Nearly every day now routinely runs a fishing column.

"Good fishing, you guys. I'm not a fisherman, however. The only thing I ever caught was a flock of mosquito bites."

Good service to fishermen.

Wilson in McKendree Hall of Fame

The late Kenneth L. (Spike) Wilson of Granite City will be among inaugural class of 10 inductees into the McKendree College Sports Hall of Fame on Oct. 27.

Wilson was a three-sport star at Granite City High School in the early 1930s before moving on to McKendree, located in Lebanon. He earned 10 varsity letters for the Bearcats in basketball, four in football and two in track. He was also on the tennis team, a non-letter sport.

Wilson was captain of the baseball team in 1935-36 and compiled a 75-70 record during his college career. He scored 220 points in the Little Nineteen Conference, during his senior year and was on the All-State (All-Conference) first team. He was captain and coach of the 1936 football team in 1934, most valuable player in 1933, and the conference player of the year in 1935.

Wilson was a first-team halfback on the Little Nineteen (All-State) team in 1934-35 and an honorable mention Little All-American in those two years. He was also the first Bearcat to

GC park district planning activities

The Granite City Park District has announced it has a limited number of openings in its men's and co-rec broomball leagues.

Broomball is similar to hockey, but is played on ice without skates. Sticks are replaced with brooms and the puck is a round rubber ball. The entry fee is $125 per team with a $17.50 per player for entry fees is Oct. 31.

There are also openings in the women's, co-rec and church co-make the All-State first team in both basketball and track. He competed in the high jump and dashes in track.

After graduation, he played briefly with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League before moving on to McKendree, located in Lebanon. He earned 10 varsity letters for the Bearcats in basketball, four in football and two in track. He was also on the tennis team, a non-letter sport.

Wilson was captain of the baseball team in 1935-36 and compiled a 75-70 record during his college career. He scored 220 points in the Little Nineteen Conference, during his senior year and was on the All-State (All-Conference) first team. He was captain and coach of the 1936 football team in 1934, most valuable player in 1933, and the conference player of the year in 1935.

Wilson was a first-team halfback on the Little Nineteen (All-State) team in 1934-35 and an honorable mention Little All-American in those two years. He was also the first Bearcat to

A new coach and bunches of new players arrive. Your star player is traded after he's alleged to have been involved in sexual misconduct with a minor. Should ticket sales be up?

No matter what the sport, most observers would say no. But that's not the case with the Blues, who have sold about 700 more season tickets for this season than they did for the 1987-88 season.

Stan Aflack, the club's director of sales, is disappointed.

"They're not going as well as I had hoped," Aflack said of the season ticket sales, which are at about 8,850 and should peak at about 9,000. "We're up, but not as much as we wanted to be."

Last year, Blues season ticket sales increased by about 2,000, to 8,200.

"We wanted to make the same jump this year, especially with the football Cardinals not here, but it hasn't happened that way," Aflack said.

The Blues raised ticket prices $2.00 a game, but season ticket holders are given price breaks in certain areas of the 17,188-seat Arena.

Prior to this season, the Blues ranked 19th in ticket prices in the 21-team National Hockey League. Aflack said the price increase puts the Blues about 14th or 15th, "but just about everyone else went up, too. And a lot of teams don't give their season ticket holders price breaks."

Aflack and his staff got a break June 20 when the Blues hired Brian Sutter as their new coach instead of someone outside of the organization.

"Some people question it because it's tough going from player to coach," Aflack said. "But he's such a fixture in the hockey here. That didn't hurt us at all."

The Blues have traded four players to the Calgary Flames in the last seven months: Rob Ramage and Rick Wamsley in March, and Doug Gilmore and Mark Hunter in early September. In return they have scorers Brett Hull, Mike Bullard and tough guy Coxe.

Gilmour was traded 10 days after the parents of a 13-year-old Flames player to the Calgary star center had had an affair with the teenager. The parents filed a civil suit against Gilmour, his wife, Robyne, and the Blues.

"We had a lot of positive calls for Gilmour," Aflack said. "People would come in and say 'I'm backing Gilmour, I'll buy tickets.' But when they traded him, it was a shock."

"That's typical. When a player is traded in the off-season, especially a player of his quality, it's tough for the public to realize what that trade was made. Where as it's the middle of the season and they've already got their ticket, the other guys (acquired in the trade) can come in and show them what the Blues can do. Bullard can do that 'til Saturday night when the Blues open the home season against the New York Rangers."

With several players not having yet signed their contracts, Aflack said the club's theory was to avoid marketing the players.

"The natural would have been to market Sutter," Aflack said. "But we're so many players new to the area, we didn't want to put pressure on any of them."

play down in those Central American countries."

If the U.S. can negotiate through the qualifying matches, which should continue through 1989, they will go to Italy for the World Cup in the summer of 1990.

"That is the thing for soccer players," Tritschuh said. "There are three requirements you shoot for. I've already done in the Pan American Games and the Olympics. The World Cup is my next goal."

After that come the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. Tritschuh has played in nine foreign countries, but Spain isn't one of them.

"I'd like to go there," he said. "They might be passing a rule that says no one over 23 can play soccer in the Olympics."

Then there is the 1994 World Cup, which will be held in America. Tritschuh will be 29 by then.

"It just opened up last week," Tritschuh said. "It's going to go just about every day."

The next trip is to the White House on Oct. 24, where all the U.S. Olympic athletes will meet President Reagan. Then it will be off to Holland right after Christmas for an indoor tournament.

"Looking at it on replay, it was a tough call," Tritschuh said. "We were a little unlucky there. The referee at the time we felt we could win. We really thought we could make it to the second round."

It was all the Americans could do to get a 0-0 tie with the host Koreans. The Americans had players out with food poisoning, the United States and goalkeeper David Vanole withheld constant pressure in the second half.

"I don't think we crossed midfield in the second half," Tritschuh said.

The U.S. still could have advanced with a win over the Soviets on Sept. 22, but they fell behind 3-0 at halftime and lost 4-3.

"We played that game totally wrong," Tritschuh said. "It was a coaching mistake. The Soviets were the most skilled team there. We thought they would really come at us and we laid of Joe Wallace, Chris Bartling, Terry Noud and Jeff Kohler will be fire.

"I'm really concerned about this game," Louer said. "We didn't play them when they played Cahokia. I don't know much about them. I'm hoping Ron will call me up and tell me about them, but I don't think that will happen. It should be a better emotional game for them coming back."

"This will be quite a challenge for the defense the first week because we won't have Jeff Kohler there. But Joe will bring him back there will help. He's quick and has good leaping ability."

Wallace will line up at split end this week. He's being relieved by sophomore Bobby Thomas at quarterback. Wallace had a tendon problem in his knee and didn't practice until Saturday. And Thoftas has been limited to just one practice.

"If Bobby does well he could stay at quarterback," Yates said. "Or Joe could be right back there. But Joe will give us another weapon offense. He's probably got more quickness than Jamie Hogan had as a receiver."

'Wimpy Bowl' Tigers Hope To KO Punchless K-State

By Mark McColl
Journal Staff Writer

Missouri coach Woody Widenhofer figures it's time for his Tigers to put up or shut up.

"What we need is to quit talking about it, and go out and do it on the field," he said. "We have to take one game at a time, and see if we can begin to turn things around."

Missouri has a chance to do that at 1:30 p.m. Saturday when it opens up Big Eight play against winless Kansas State in Manhattan, Kan.

Kansas State might be just what the doctor ordered for Missouri, which has not won since its season-opening 35-21 victory over Utah State. The Wildcats, 0-4, haven't won since 1986. K-State was 0-10 last year, which included a 17-17 tie with rival Kansas.

Thus far in 1988, the Wildcats have dropped games to Tulsa, Iowa, Texas and Louisiana Tech. The slow start has led Kansas State head coach Stan Parrish to tender his resignation effective at the end of the season. Parrish made the announcement Monday morning in Manhattan.

"The situation was becoming very difficult for our kids to deal with," Parrish said. "The bottom was increasing week to week, and the kids don't need that, especially if they're taking the pressure off."

Just how Parrish's team will be affected by the news remains to be seen. But Widenhofer, who said he thought Parrish was the man to get the job done at K-State, believes it will inspire the Wildcats.

"With the close rapport Stan has with his players, I'm sure they'll come together and pull it all together," Widenhofer said.

Missouri itself is not exactly coming in as solid ground. The Tigers were shaken, rattled and rolled 55-0 by the No. 1-ranked Miami Hurricanes last weekend. Missouri stands at 1-2 on the season, and a loss to Kansas State would just about end any realistic chance of a .500 record.

Widenhofer said his team suffered a complete breakdown against Miami. The Tigers couldn't run or pass, and they couldn't stop the Hurricanes' attack. Widenhofer said his team "looked intimidated."

"We couldn't even get a first down for a while," he said.

The Tigers managed less than 130 net yards of total offense against Miami. The only positive on the offensive side was the play of backup quarterback Corey Welch, who helped himself considerably, Widen-

These quarterback-sacking Tigers haven't been as much of a problem for Coach Woody Widenhofer as Missouri's hofer said. Welch and Brad Fitzmaurice, both redshirt freshmen, saw a good deal of playing time after starter John Stollenwerck went down with a shoulder injury.

Missouri's defense, thought to be a strong point going into the season, continues to disappoint. Miami had more than 500 yards in total offense against Missouri, and about 350 of those yards were in the air. Through four games, the Tigers' secondary has given up 13 touchdowns and just under 1,200 passing yards.

Don't think those figures have somehow slid by Parrish. But Parrish says the Tigers aren't as easy to throw against as everyone thinks.

"They're not as bad back there as they've looked," Parrish said. "They've played a lot of great passing teams, and you have to take that into consideration."

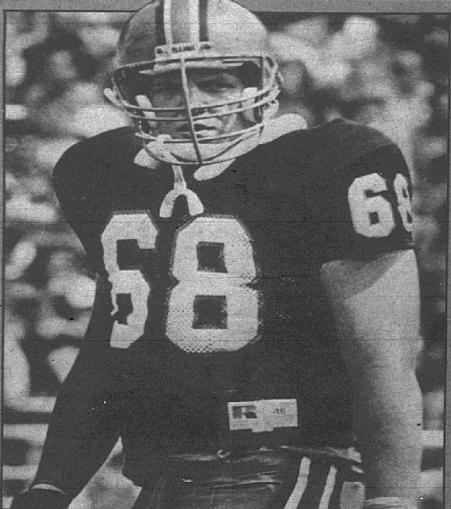

secondary, which has given up 13 touchdowns and just under 1,200 passing yards in four games.

"Woody's had one of the toughest non-conference schedules. He's done a good job against some difficult opponents. They've been burned, but they've been burned by the best."

Missouri will face another challenge against the Wildcats in the game of redshirt freshman Paul Watson. Watson threw for four touchdowns and more than 300 yards against Louisville the last time he played.

"He (Watson) played magnificently," Parrish said. "He's got a tremendous future here at Kansas State."

Widenhofer figures the best way to deal with Watson is to keep him off the field. The Tigers, particularly if Welch or Fitzmaurice starts, will be looking to run the ball offensively Saturday. Before the Hurricanes, the Tigers had been averaging 284 yards a game on the ground. Widenhofer hopes to get back on those running backfield feet against K-State.

Illini's George Won't Be Rushed By Smiles

By Jim Woodcock
Journal Staff Writer

Some football fans might not have expected the focus of the Big Ten Conference this year to be on Illinois-Purdue games Saturday in Champaign.

But considering the topsy-turvy nature of the Big Ten this week, Illinois-Purdue at the start of the week seems deliciously appropriate. Perhaps it's not the start of a typical Michigan-Ohio State encounter, but the start of a year Purdue coach Fred Akers is enjoying the spotlight for all it's worth—and while it lasts.

"I'm sure everyone's surprised that we're in this position with Illinois, both being in first place," Akers said. "That's about as apologetic as it gets. But nevertheless, here we are. And I think you're going to see a good football game. I know Illinois is a lot more confident than they were a week ago, and we hope to be."

Confidence is only one positive byproduct from the Illini's performance of a week ago, when they visited Ohio State and overwhelmed the heavily favored Buckeyes 31-12. A victory which had been even christened in Champaign as one of the all-time big wins at Illinois—gave the Illini a 2-2 overall mark and a 1-0 record in the league with Michigan, Indiana and Purdue.

Purdue, which is also 2-2 overall, joined Illinois as Big Ten's other unlikely front-runner last Saturday by defeating Minnesota at home 14-10. When Purdue and Illinois meet Saturday in Memorial Stadium (KXOK-AM 630), they'll be attempting to narrow the distance between themselves and current league leaders such as 1988 Rose Bowl champion Michigan State, Iowa and Ohio State.

It's a strange scenario for these young programs to hold the upper hand on the established Big Ten guard, at least for the time being. But for something particularly odd, consider the story unfolding involving Akers and Illinois quarterback Jeff George.

Akers, who made his name in coaching at the University of Texas, is the very reason George isn't dressing in Purdue colors this week.

George, the nation's top-rated high school quarterback out of Indianapolis in 1985, was let loose in West Lafayette in 1986 and signed a letter of intent to start his home state's play at Purdue. But when Akers was hired by Purdue after the 1986 season, George transferred to Illinois in fear of Akers invoking his Longhorns-style running game on the Boilermakers.

Last year George had to sit out the season in accordance with NCAA rules governing transfers within a conference. Saturday finally marks the day that some of his former Purdue friends will attempt to bury him in the Memorial Stadium Astrodome.

Akers says he expects fans to key on this aspect of Saturday's game, but he warns they may be disappointed. Akers swears there will be no "smile crusade."

We're approaching the start of a big conference football game, and he's an excellent quarterback," Akers said. "He might be the best quarterback we face this year. He looks very good, extremely good. I think everyone at Purdue knows why we recruited him here, because we were impressed with him."

George, like the entire Illini team, has improved noticeably with each game following the embarrassing 44-7 loss to Washington State. John Mackovic, George's coach, said he had his best day of the season, completing 18 of 27 passes for 224 yards and one touchdown.

Mackovic admits it is possible that George will be up for this contest like no other in date. "But I hope not," Mackovic said. "We're trying to play the game as a total team game. It's a game between Illinois and Purdue, and I think that's very important for everybody to understand."

Obviously there's a little different twist this week than perhaps other games, and we can't change that. We can't deny it, and certainly we accept it and recognize it. But more than anything, our team or their team would really make a real mistake in trying to think that it's more than just a game between Illinois and Purdue this week."

Ironically, George may find himself pressured on Saturday by a freshman defensive end who once intended to play for the Illini.

When Mike White, a redshirt freshman coach last January and Mackovic's hired over White's defensive coordinator Howard Tippett, several Illini blue-chip recruits who backed Tippett decided to enroll at Purdue. One was Chicago all-star Frank Kmet, who was moved from tackle to end in response to numerous Boilermaker injuries on defense.

Kmet is considered one of Illinois' great losses from the 1987 recruiting season that was interrupted by the NCAA's investigation into the Illini and White's subsequent resignation. And speaking of losses to Purdue, Illinois' 9-3 defeat last year against the Boilermakers marked Akers' first win as Purdue's coach.

But with Illinois on a two-game winning streak and interest in Illini football blossoming again after the embarrassing 44-7 loss to Washington State, John Mackovic hardly cares about what has happened between the two schools.

"The fact that Fred Akers and I are concerned about," Mackovic said, "is what's going to happen this week."

Gaffner: Weber to defend aide in libel suit

By Scott Cousins
Staff affiliate

COLLINSVILLE — Former Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, a Collinsville native, will defend an aide to Republican congressional candidate Robert Gaffner in a libel lawsuit filed by someone who is Weber's political enemy.

At a late-September press conference at his Collinsville campaign headquarters, Gaffner said Weber would be defending Gaffner's aide Marvin France.

He also announced the creation of a legal defense fund for Gaffner volunteers, and said he would be contributing $500 to the fund.

Weber will defend France, 49, of Troy, against a $1.5 million libel suit filed by Amiel Cueto.

Cueto is a St. Clair County attorney and treasurer for the campaign of U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville. Gaffner, who narrowly lost a special election against Costello in August, was not facing him again in November.

Gaffner said the suit was a political maneuver meant to harass and intimidate Gaffner's volunteers.

"It appears that every time Jerry Costello is threatened, his confidant, Amiel Cueto, files a suit," Gaffner said, referring to other suits Cueto has filed over the years.

'This meeting they talked about between me and Mel Price was a total fabrication. I never talked to Mrs. Price in my life. I met Mel Price once and that was in October 1976.'

Amiel Cueto

"I will not accept intimidation or further harassment," Gaffner said.

Gaffner said he would not be surprised to see other suits filed against his campaign workers.

He also said he has heard from a reliable source that a lawsuit may be filed against him. He would not elaborate, saying he has been advised not to say anything else on the matter.

The suit against France seeks $1.5 million in actual and punitive damages for a letter to the editor in the Bellefontaine Democrat. The letter, alleged Cueto tried to force the late Rep. Mel Price to bow out of the 1984 House election in favor of Costello.

Capital Cities Media Inc., owner of the newspaper which published the letter, and company president Thomas Murphy were also named in the suit.

"It's a threat to people in the media," Gaffner said. "It's telling newspapers 'don't you dare run a letter to the editor,' and it's telling volunteers 'don't you write a letter to the editor?'

France's letter, alleged that Costello and Cueto arranged a meeting at a suburban Washington hotel with Price, his late wife Geraldine and his then-chief of staff Bill Hart.

The letter went on to say that Cueto discussed the election with the Price group (while Costello remained) and "pressuring" elder statesman Price to yield to the younger Costello.

Price stayed out of the race, Costello stayed out and Price went to win a 21st term in the House over Republican challenger Gaffner.

Weber said he was hoping to begin taking depositions on the case as soon as possible.

He also said he might seek a change of venue, but thought that would be difficult to do.

"It's difficult because the judge you want to change from is the one who would be granting it," he said.

This will not be the first time Weber and Cueto have faced one another.

Weber currently has a $31 million libel suit pending against Cueto. The suit was filed after Cueto wrote letters in 1983 to then-Chief 3rd Circuit Judge A.A. Mattoesian, the Madison County Board and state and county officials in which he made 31 separate allegations against Weber, including misuse of public funds.

Cueto said the allegations in France's letter were false.

"This meeting they talked about between me and Mel Price was a total fabrication. I never talked to Mrs. Price in my life. I met Mel Price once and that was in October 1976," Cueto said.

He also said the suit was more in response to Cueto's belief that France's allegations had prompted a valued legal client to drop Cueto as his attorney.

Asked about the suit and its potential impact on his race with Gaffner, Cueto told a national news service that he would discuss the suit with Cueto and added that Cueto probably would have gone ahead even if Costello had voiced objections.

"You have not met a more independent thinking man in your life than Amiel Cueto. I am not involved in the lawsuit and I don't intend to be. The whole thing is unfortunate," Costello said.

Gaffner, Costello debate Oct. 21

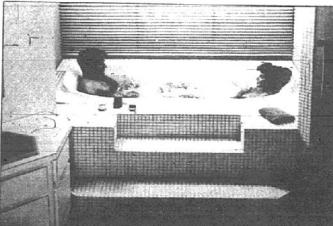

The two contenders for the 21st Illinois Congressional District seat will appear together to discuss national security issues Friday, Oct. 21, at the Collinsville Holiday Inn.

The debate, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be sponsored jointly by three units of the League of Women Voters.

Suzanne Jacobelli, professor of political science at SIUE, will pose questions to Greeneville Republican Robert Gaffner and U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville.

The contested seat was vacated earlier this year upon the death of Rep. Melvin Price before completion of his 44th year in that office.

Consumer group endorses Costello

BELLEVILLE — U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, has been endorsed by the Illinois Public Action Council, the state's largest consumer interest group, in the race for the 21st Congressional District seat he won in August.

Costello will face Republican Bob Gaffner in the Nov. 8 general election.

Robert Creamer, the council's executive director, announced the endorsement in a prepared statement.

"Cong. Costello has had a long record of concern for the needs of average citizens through local government," Creamer said. "He brings to Congress a strong concern for jobs and the needs of senior citizens, and key issues in the debate over federal policy for the next two years."

Creamer said that the council was not happy with Gaffner's opposition to advance notice of plant closings, something the council has advocated for a long time.

John Cameron, a council spokesman, said the council's political committee conducted telephone interviews with both candidates and reviewed answers to a lengthy written questionnaire which both Costello and Gaffner completed.

Cameron said the council endorsed Madison County Auditor Pete Fields in the March primary but said the council "was now 100 percent behind Costello."

Dave Wagner, Costello's campaign manager, said he was pleased with the council's endorsement and was looking forward to working with the council.

The Illinois Public Action Council was formed in 1976 to monitor, and lobby for, state and federal legislation on consumer issues including utility rates and environmental protection, Cameron said.

Fox will be right place, right time for Dr. John

By Paul A. Harris
Staff affiliate

The last thing Dr. John (Mac Rebennack) expected to be was a great blues singer.

"I was groomed in this business as a record producer and an accompanying musician," said Rebennack in his familiar gravel voice. "The only reason I knew at all about singing is from showing people songs I wrote. So it's all been a lot of surprises on that wavelength."

Rebennack will be in concert at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 at the Fox Theatre.

The son of a record store owner, Rebennack was born in 1941 in New Orleans. He grew up listening to Creole music, as well as his lifelong idol, piano professor, Longhair. In the late 1950s, Rebennack worked as a studio musician for Longhair and prominent R&B singers, such as Frankie Ford and Joe Tex.

Rebennack left New Orleans for Los Angeles in the mid-1960s. While doing sessions there for Sonny and Cher, Rebennack's alter ego emerged. He had written songs based on New Orleans voodoo traditions with the idea that they would be performed in a theatrical style by someone else. But when the intended artist turned down, Rebennack decided to become "Dr. John, the Night Tripper."

His sound blended jazz, psychedelic rock and Creole music. His gimmick was to present the unusual blend while wearing exotic robes and elaborate head dresses; he looked like a voodoo prince. His albums, "Gris-gris" and "Babylon," struck a chord with the blues community.

In 1973, Dr. John hit the Top 10 list with "Right Place, Wrong

Time."

The success surprised the star.

"I never thought I would be singing at all," he said. "And when I made the first Dr. John record, I never thought it would go any further than that. It ("Gris-gris") was an album concept I thought somebody else would do, and not immediately for myself. I have felt that way about each record I did since then. I thought, 'That's the end of it.'

But it has not ended. Rebennack, who has doffed the funky fabrics, recently designed with Wayne Shorter and preparing to cut another album.

And Dr. John is searching a new audience through a different medium, television commercials.

His sleepy, rasping voice is heard in spots for Popeye's fried chicken and Country Time Lemonade. Madison Avenue apparently, calls on the good doctor when the need for deep, southern-fried voice-overs are required.

But being recognized as a Deep South original has little effect on Rebennack.

"To tell you the truth, I do those things and walk out of the studio and it's out of my head,"

DR. JOHN, an eclectic blues artist, hit the Top 10 list in 1973 with "Right Place, Wrong Time." John will be at the Louis Fox Theatre on Oct. 14.

said Rebennack, who has been doing commercials for about 30 years. "It's only when I hear my voice on TV that I remember doing them."

"I had been doing music for jingles since the '50s. Eighty percent of that kind of work comes from guys I work with on other kinds of projects."

Steam train returns to Union Station

The sight, sound, grace and power of a mainline steam locomotive will return to St. Louis Union Station Oct. 22 and 23 when the magnificent restored Frisco Steam Locomotive #1522 will pull a 19-car excursion train to Decatur and back each day.

The train will depart each day at 9 a.m. and return each day at about 9 p.m., tracing the route of the famous Wabash Cannonball over tracks now owned and operated by Norfolk Southern Corp.

Tickets are $75 per person for either open window or air conditioned coach seats.

They can be ordered by mail from the St. Louis Chapter, National Railway Historical Society, Suite 252, P.O. Box 2658, St. Louis, Mo. 63116.

Tickets also may be ordered by phone, mail, Mastercard or VISA at (314) 965-2120, Monday through Friday, 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Sunday 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The engine, from the National Museum of Transport collection, has been painstakingly restored to like-new condition by the volunteers of the St. Louis Steam Train Association.

The featured assistance from numerous local corporations and organizations, especially the Transport Museum Association, a spokesman said.
